A must-see destination.
Because there are stories to be told, memorable experiences to be shared, and significant lessons to be learned.

Take history to heart.
Using photographs, personal belongings, filmed Survivor recollections, memorabilia, and historic artifacts of the Holocaust, we share Survivor stories so they are not forgotten.

Take a stand for humanity.
In response to neo-Nazi threats in the 1970s, local Holocaust Survivors and citizens of Skokie, Illinois, vowed “Never Again.” Their courageous stand evolved into the third-largest Holocaust Museum in the world. Designed by renowned Chicago architect Stanley Tigerman, the Museum is architecturally fascinating and educationally inspiring.

Now more than ever.
Current issues of hatred, prejudice, and inhumanity make headlines every day.

Keep the lessons alive.
