In wake of the attack on our Capitol and the current climate of polarization in our country, educators face the challenging job to help students process the recent events and think critically about the media presence in our society. We must find a way to discuss current events with impartial and unbiased views.

Nelson Mandela famously observed “Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.” To support teachers, the Educator’s Institute for Human Rights and the Illinois Holocaust Museum & Education Center have curated resources to facilitate difficult discussions in the classroom around media literacy.

These tools contain creative lessons and articles on media ethics, identifying propaganda, leading discussions after a crisis, and teaching controversial issues in the classroom. With these tools, teachers will be equipped to conduct meaningful and informed conversations in the classroom, promoting learning and understanding around this critically important topic.

Educators know their students, classrooms, and community best. As with any resource, be sure to review and determine which resources best serve your specific circumstances.

Advice from Experts:

How Should Schools Teach Kids About What Happened at the US Capitol on January 6th
The Conversation, January 12, 2021

Leading Conversations After Crisis
Teaching Tolerance, January 7, 2021

Responding to Events at the Capitol
Facing History and Ourselves, January 6, 2021

Response to Events at the Capitol
Beyond the Spotlight, January 6, 2021

Teaching in Times of Crisis
Vanderbilt University Center for Teaching, 2001; Revised and updated in April 2013

What to Say to Kids When the News is Scary
National Public Radio (NPR), January 10, 2020

White Supremacy and the Attack on the Capitol
Erica Pernell, January 2021
Resource Collections:

- Confronting Hate Toolkit
  Illinois Holocaust Museum & Education Center, generously sponsored by Fifth Third Bank

- Core Principals for Media Literacy Education in the United States
  National Association for Media Literacy in Education, 2021

- On The Media: Breaking News Consumer's Handbooks
  WNYC Studios, various dates

- Teaching about controversial issues: A resource guide
  The Choices Program, Brown University, August 22, 2019

Lesson Plans:

- Are you propaganda proof? Take the Quiz!
  Disinformation Nation, 2021

- Classroom resource: Three ways to teach the insurrection at the U.S. Capitol
  PBS NewsHour EXTRA, January 6, 2021

- Disinformation Nation: Separating Politics & Propaganda

- Media Ethics: Fairness Formula Starts With Accuracy

- The Speed of News: Where Do We Get the News
  Newseum ED, 2021

- The Hope and Fragility of Democracy in the US
  Facing History and Ourselves, January 15, 2021

- Lesson Plan: The Fairness Doctrine
  C-Span Classroom, August 13, 2013

- What Is Media Literacy and How Do We Practice It Using Pulitzer Center Reporting?
  Pulitzer Center, October 27, 2020

Tools for Action:

- How to Contact Your Elected Officials
  Learn how to contact your federal, state, and local elected leaders.

- Rock the Vote
  Rock the Vote is the most trusted and effective nonpartisan nonprofit dedicated to building the political power of young people.